PERSONAL RESUME

Andrew Weintraub
6679 Waterburg Road
Trumansburg, NY 14886
845-505-6824
E-mail: andyweintraub1939@gmail.com

EDUCATION

1. Rutgers University, Newark College, BA, 1961
2. Rutgers University, Graduate School, MA, 1964
3. Rutgers University, Department of Economics, Ph.D., 1966
   Dissertation topic: The Cyclical Nature of Strike Activity in the United States, 1951-1961

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

1. Adjunct Professor of Economics, Marist College, Poughkeepsie, 1999-2002
2. Associate Professor, Temple University, 1973-1999, Retired, June, 1999
   (On leave1982-83 as visiting Professor, Marist College, Poughkeepsie, NY)
3. Lecturer, Cedar Crest College, 1973-74
4. Assistant Professor, Lehigh University, 1966-72
5. Instructor, Rider College, 1965-66
6. Instructor, Rutgers University, 1964-65
7. Currently teaching in Lifetime Learning Institute, Bard College and Lifespring, Saugerties, NY

COURSES TAUGHT

Labor Economics and Wage Theory (Graduate and undergraduate)
Intermediate Micro and Macro Theory
Principles of Economics
Money and Banking
Public Finance
Business and Society

MEMBERSHIPS IN PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

American Economics Association
Industrial Relations Research Association
Eastern Economics Association (Founding Member)
Pennsylvania Economics Association (President, 1974-75)
New York Economics Association
National Association of Forensic Economists

RESEARCH AND PUBLICATION EXPERIENCE

A. Monographs
1. Work Stoppages in New Jersey, 1962, Research Program, Institute for Management and Labor Relations, Rutgers University, (New Brunswick, 1963)
2. Work Stoppages in New Jersey, 1952-1963, Institute for Management and Labor Relations, Rutgers University, (New Brunswick, 1965)

B. Books
1. The Economic Growth Controversy (Edited along with E. Schwartz and J. R. Aronson), International Arts and Science Press, 1973

C. Articles and Comments
1. "Prosperity vs. Strikes: An Empirical Approach", Industrial and Labor Relations Review, January, 1966
2. "A Comment on the Regional Differential in the Differential Between White and Non-white Unemployment Rates", Journal of Political Economy, January/February, 1971
3. "The Revenue Potential of the Public Lottery", (with J.R. Aronson) Growth and Change, April, 1972
4. "A Comment on Employment Subsidies", Industrial and Labor Relations Review, July, 1972
5. "A Note on the Compensated Emancipation of Slaves During the Civil War", The American Journal of Economics and Sociology, April, 1973
6. "Bargaining Legislation and the Propensity to Strike: The Case of School Teachers", The Journal of Collective Negotiations in the Public Sector, (with Robert Thornton) January, 1974
7. "On the Economic Dilemma in the Performing Arts", The Performing Arts Review, 1975
8. "Limits on the Substitutability of Labor" (reply to William Marr's comments of # 5 above) American Journal of Economics and Sociology, 1976
9. "Why Teachers Strike: The Economic and Legal Determinants", (with Robert Thornton), Journal of Collective Negotiations in the Public Sector, 1976
10. "Licensing in the Barbering Profession" (with Robert Thornton) Industrial and Labor Relations Review, Jan. 1979

11. A biography of Martin Feldstein, in The Biographic Dictionary of the CEA, Greenwood Press, January, 1988

D. Papers Delivered at Professional Meetings

1. "The Public Lottery: A Fickle Source of Revenue", The Pennsylvania Conference of Economists, 1972
2. "The Incidence of Strikes by Public School Teachers", The Pennsylvania Conference of Economists, 1973
3. Discussant: "Adjustment for Capacity Utilization in Production Function Theory", by T. Saini, Atlantic Economics Conference, 1973
4. "The Economics of Licensing: The Case of Barbers", The Pennsylvania Conference of Economists, 1974
5. Discussant: "Job Evaluation Techniques", by Eleanor Gilpatrick, Eastern Economics Association Meetings, 1974
6. "Licensing in the Barbering Profession", Eastern Economic Association meetings, 1976
7. "The Economics of Economic Education", Eastern Economic Association meetings, 1978
8. "Economic Principles and the Courts: The Concept of Present Value", Pennsylvania Conference of Economists, June, 1983 and Eastern Economic Association, 1983
9. "The Economic Foundations for World Peace Through International Trade", Marist College Conference on World Peace, 1983"
10. "The Direct Estimation of Real Interest Rates", New York Economics Association Meetings, 1985
11. “The Forensic Economist: Using Experience in the Courtroom To Improve Understanding in the Classroom”, Robert Morris College Annual Conference on Teaching Economics, Pittsburgh, February, 1991

F. Consulting Activities

My current consulting activity is concentrated in the area of serving as an expert witness for attorneys in cases which require estimates of lost earnings, the value of household services, the value of educational degrees and licenses, and other research into labor market activities, trends, and values.