

Ryan Sentner
39 Daylily Drive
Mt. Laurel, NJ, 08054
609-313-6351
ryan.sentner@temple.edu

EDUCATION

2008 Masters of Arts, Criminal Justice, Rutgers University

2006 Bachelor of Arts, American Studies, with a minor in Criminal Justice,
Temple University

AREAS OF INTEREST

Teaching Interests: Environmental Criminology, Crime Prevention, Cybercrime, Corrections, Criminological Theory, Methods, Statistics, and Crime Analysis

Research Interests: Environmental Criminology, Crime Prevention, Crime Analysis, Rural Crime, Crime and Place, and Cybercrime

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Corrections:
Temple University
Rutgers-Newark

Criminal Justice Statistics:
Temple University

Criminal Justice Research Methods:
Temple University
Rutgers-Newark

Street-Level Criminology:
Temple University

Urban Crime Patterns:
Temple University

Environmental Criminology:
Temple University
Rutgers-Newark

Professional Development in Criminal Justice:
Temple University

Crime and Crime Analysis:
Rutgers-Newark

Introduction to Criminal Justice:
Rutgers-Newark

Responsible for all duties related to the courses including syllabus development, lecture preparation and presentation, exam and assignment development, and grading.

RESEARCH PROJECTS

2011-2014

Dissertation Research

- An analysis of opportunity-based crimes, specifically, how bank robbery opportunities have greatly increased in rural areas over the past twenty years

2010

Core Exam (Specialization)

- An analysis of how new technologies can create new crime opportunities

2008

Masters Project

- Conducted an analysis of repeat offending and repeat victimization concerning burglaries in Newark, New Jersey

PROFESSIONAL & RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Fall 2014 - Spring 2024

Instructor, Department of Criminal Justice, Temple University

Spring 2024

Undergraduate Committee Member

Fall 2016 -Spring 2020

Web content editor for the Criminal Justice Department at Temple University

Spring 2016

Collaborator, Introduction to Research and Analysis Working Group

Fall 2015-Spring 2016

Collaborator, Introduction to Criminal Justice Research Methods Working Group

Summer 2015

Researcher, Philadelphia Predictive Policing Experiment, Philadelphia, PA

Spring 2015

Researcher, Crime analysis and CAD incident analysis, Wilmington, DE

Fall 2011-Fall 2013

Part Time Lecturer, School of Criminal Justice, Rutgers University

2010-2011

Teaching Assistant, School of Criminal Justice, Rutgers University

-Assistant to Dr. Ronald V. Clarke

-Helped to classify modern situational crime prevention strategies

-Analyzed how new technologies impact crime

2009

Teaching Assistant, School of Criminal Justice, Rutgers University

-Assistant to Dr. Mercer Sullivan

-Assisted during his classes and helped create exams for his course (Criminology)

2008

Teaching Assistant, School of Criminal Justice, Rutgers University

-Assistant to Dr. Johnna Christian

-Assisted with grading of exams and assignments (Corrections)

2007-2008

Assistant at the Don M. Gottfredson Library of Criminal Justice

-Assistant to Phyllis Schultze

-Assisted with gathering new sources for the library

-Aided professors in finding sources pertinent to their research

2006-2007

Research Assistant at The Police Institute at Rutgers-Newark

-Assistant to Dr. Eric Piza

-Analyzed police reports to find patterns concerning burglaries and homicides in Newark, NJ

AWARDS & HONORS

Teaching Assistantship, School of Criminal Justice-Rutgers University, 2008-2011

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIP

American Society of Criminology