A CUSTOMIZED PLAN OF STUDY

The Neuroscience Major allows you the flexibility to design a multidisciplinary curriculum that meets your specific area of interest and helps you gain experience in a diverse range of professional programs.

EXPERT AND ENGAGED FACULTY

Small class sizes, taught by full-time faculty with degrees in neuroscience and extensive teaching and research experience in the field, provide you with personal attention as well as valuable networking opportunities with neuroscience experts.

FLEXIBLE APPLICATIONS, LIFE-LONG POSSIBILITIES

You’ll apply the experience and knowledge acquired in the Neuroscience Major to your professional pursuits across many organizations and industries, including academics, cultural institutions, government agencies or the social sciences. The versatility of this program’s curriculum helps you graduate with valuable skill sets sought by many employers.

No matter what you have planned for life after graduation—further graduate study in neuroscience, medical school or entering the workforce—you’ll have the opportunity for external internships and hands-on research experience that translates into real-world applications. The Neuroscience degree will prepare you for work in several professional areas, including some of the following: biochemistry, bioengineering, biology education, market research, mental health work, neurology, occupational therapy, optometry, physical therapy, research science and speech-language pathology.
At the College of Liberal Arts (CLA), students have access to more than just great classes. Our urban setting provides countless experiential learning opportunities outside the classroom like internships, research endeavors with faculty and community engagement. These experiences empower our students to continue developing their skill sets, pursuing their interests and growing into tomorrow’s leaders in challenging and rewarding career paths.

INTERNSHIPS

Internships impart valuable skills that are extensions of those taught in the classroom. CLA is committed to enhancing students’ professionalism and assisting them in obtaining internships. Visit the Joyce K. Salzberg Center for Professional Development for internship resources dedicated solely to liberal arts students.

COMMUNITY-ENGAGED LEARNING

Community-engaged Learning (CEL) is a collaboration between students, faculty and community stakeholders to address a community-identified need.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

Undergraduate research opportunities at CLA range from developing an independent project to partnering with a faculty member or working with a university lab or group.

STUDY ABROAD

Studying abroad can be one of the most transformative experiences you’ll have as a college student. Temple University students have many opportunities to study abroad through our international campuses in Rome and Japan, foreign exchange programs and external partnerships.

DEADLINES

NOVEMBER 1:
- Transfer Application Deadline for Spring
- Early Action First-year Application Deadline for Fall

FEBRUARY 1:
- First-year Application Deadline for Fall
- FAFSA Financial Aid Application Deadline

MAY 1:
- FAFSA Financial Aid Application Deadline
- Housing and Tuition Deposit Deadline

JUNE 1:
- Transfer Application Deadline for Fall

WHAT YOU SEE ISN’T ALWAYS WHAT YOU PAY.

That’s why the College of Liberal Arts is committed to keeping tuition low—in fact, we are one of the few colleges within Temple University that does not charge a tuition differential. Our priority is to help you graduate with less student debt.

For more information on Temple University tuition and financial aid, visit Student Financial Services at sfs.temple.edu

LEARN MORE

Have more questions about the College of Liberal Arts? Connect with CLA Enrollment staff, faculty and current students virtually, on campus or both!

Office of Enrollment Management
College of Liberal Arts
215-204-7743
liberal-arts@temple.edu
liberalarts.temple.edu/admissions/

APPLY NOW

Visit admissions.temple.edu to get started.

TRANSFERRING?

Whether transferring has always been a part of your plan or you suddenly find yourself ready to make a change, the College of Liberal Arts offers flexibility to help you accomplish your goals as efficiently as possible.

To learn more about transferring to Temple, please visit liberalarts.temple.edu/transfer or email us at clatransfer@temple.edu.