LEARN BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

Psychology students are encouraged to develop applied skills through focused experiential learning in research laboratories and community-based internships. Students may receive course credit for both types of experiences outside the classroom.

Internship positions are available at a variety of community sites including businesses, non-profit organizations and government agencies.

To gain research experience, you can apply to work as research assistants in one of the many active research laboratories run by Temple psychology faculty.

ONE DEGREE, MANY CAREER POSSIBILITIES

With the knowledge and skills that you’ll learn as an undergraduate psychology major—critical thinking and understanding human behavior, for example—a multitude of career and graduate study opportunities will await you upon graduation. Psychology majors are well positioned to enter careers in fields such as research, human resources, education, marketing, social services and healthcare.

Many psychology majors also go on to graduate study in psychology or other fields, including counseling, neuroscience, law, medicine, occupational or speech therapy, and business.
At the College of Liberal Arts (CLA), students have access to more than just great classes. Our urban setting provides countless experiential learning opportunities outside the classroom like internships, research endeavors with faculty and community engagement. These experiences empower our students to continue developing their skill sets, pursuing their interests and growing into tomorrow’s leaders in challenging and rewarding career paths.

INTERNSHIPS

Internships impart valuable skills that are extensions of those taught in the classroom. CLA is committed to enhancing students’ professionalism and assisting them in obtaining internships. Visit the Joyce K. Salzberg Center for Professional Development for internship resources dedicated solely to liberal arts students.

COMMUNITY-ENGAGED LEARNING

Community-engaged Learning (CEL) is a collaboration between students, faculty and community stakeholders to address a community-identified need.

RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

Undergraduate research opportunities at CLA range from developing an independent project to partnering with a faculty member or working with a university lab or group.

STUDY ABROAD

Studying abroad can be one of the most transformative experiences you’ll have as a college student. Temple University students have many opportunities to study abroad through our international campuses in Rome and Japan, foreign exchange programs and external partnerships.

DEADLINES

NOVEMBER 1:
- Transfer Application Deadline for Spring
- Early Action First-year Application Deadline for Fall

FEBRUARY 1:
- First-year Application Deadline for Fall
- FAFSA Financial Aid Application Deadline

MAY 1:
- FAFSA Financial Aid Application Deadline
- Housing and Tuition Deposit Deadline

JUNE 1:
- Transfer Application Deadline for Fall

WHAT YOU SEE ISN’T ALWAYS WHAT YOU PAY.

That’s why the College of Liberal Arts is committed to keeping tuition low—in fact, we are one of the few colleges within Temple University that does not charge a tuition differential. Our priority is to help you graduate with less student debt.

For more information on Temple University tuition and financial aid, visit Student Financial Services at sfs.temple.edu

LEARN MORE

Have more questions about the College of Liberal Arts? Connect with CLA Enrollment staff, faculty and current students virtually, on campus or both!

Office of Enrollment Management
College of Liberal Arts
215-204-7743
liberal-arts@temple.edu
liberalarts.temple.edu/admissions/

APPLY NOW

Visit admissions.temple.edu to get started.

TRANSFERRING?

Whether transferring has always been a part of your plan or you suddenly find yourself ready to make a change, the College of Liberal Arts offers flexibility to help you accomplish your goals as efficiently as possible.

To learn more about transferring to Temple, please visit liberalarts.temple.edu/transfer or email us at clatransfer@temple.edu.

liberalarts.temple.edu @TULiberalArts